

Plant operation optimization supported by intelligent control system

Kazuhiro Domoto
Mitsubishi Hitachi Power Systems, Ltd.

We will describe the installation procedure in this report for intelligent control system, which can contribute to the enhancement of our clients' earning capacity by increasing the economic efficiency of power plants, and also presents an overview of intelligent control system features, its system structure and an actual introduction example.

